S.O.D.

Art Unit: 1616

The finality of the rejection of the last Office action is withdrawn.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

Claim 47 recites the limitation "a plant growth regulator" in lines 1-2. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-3,7,8,16,17,25-27,30,32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kraft's Cool Whip. The office takes official notice that cool whip has been available before the filing date of this application (8/4/98) and that cool whip meets the limitations of the instant composition. The ingredient content label of cool whip list vegetable oil (coconut oil), emulsifier (polysorbate 80), foam agent (xanthan gum), hydrolyzed protein (caseinate protein), and water. Polysorbate is a mixture of sodium lauryl sulfate and oxyethylate. See label. The label does not state that cool whip contains 40 to 90% vegetable oil. However, in a claim to a composition where all limitations are met except for the amount of an ingredient, it is important for the applicant to show the criticality of the amount.

Claims 33,35-41,43 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Oshio et al (US 4244731; 1/13/81). Oshio suggests a method of controlling plant growth with an aerosol composition comprising a plant growth regulator, vegetable oil (pine oil), an emulsifier (alkyl sulfonate, alkyl arylsulfonate, alkyl sulfate, polyethylene glycol alkyl ether), a foam agent (starch or gum arabic powder) and water. Oshio teaches that the composition can further comprise agricultural chemicals such as fungicides, insecticides, nematocides, etc. See abstract, column 6 line 51 – column 7 line 33. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to develop the instant method. One would have been motivated to do this since the method was suggested by Oshio.

Claim Objection

Claims 4,5,9-13,15,29 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims. The prior art does not teach or suggest the instant composition having silicone compound, alkyl sulfonate, aryl sulfonate, amine oxide, ammonium compound, aryl oxyalkylate, carboxyalkylcellulose, and mucilage. Claims 42 and 46 are allowable. The prior art does not teach or suggest the instant method of claim 42 wherein the specified vegetable oils are employed.
